

Dear Citizens of Arkansas:

As your Attorney General, protecting the interests of Arkansas consumers is one of my top priorities. Arkansans possess a tremendous spirit of generosity, and our citizens are always willing to pitch in and help those in need. While giving to charitable organizations is a noble and worthwhile practice, my goal in producing this report is to protect the public from charity fraud. The Public Protection Division of my office regularly gathers information about charities, fund-raising counsel, paid solicitors, and telemarketers. This report will help make it easier for donors to recognize legitimate charities that are truly in need of assistance and to avoid those that are only interested in lining their own pockets.

We want to help ensure that your charitable contribution is used for the purpose for which you intended. By using this informative report about charitable organizations and fund-raising practices, you will be better able to determine those organizations you wish to support. Be cautious! Legitimate charities will not use gimmicks or high-pressure tactics. Just as with any other monetary transaction, when an offer doesn't seem right or makes you uneasy, it's probably best to wait and check out the facts with my office.

If a charity you have contributed to in the past, or are considering contributing to in the future, is not listed in our report, it may mean that the organization is exempt or that they do not use a paid solicitor. Please call my office to make further inquiries any time you're uncertain. My staff will be happy to help you determine if the charity is registered or if it has filed a valid exemption form.

I encourage all Arkansans to contribute to the legitimate charity of their choice. I also urge each of you to become informed about exactly how your charitable dollars are spent. Find out what services the charity offers in your community and then check for evidence that those services are being provided. Give well, but give wisely.

If you have any questions or would like to make further inquiries regarding a specific charity, please contact my staff in the Public Protection Department at (501) 682-2341 or 1-(800) 482-8982. You may also contact us via E-mail at oag@ag.state.ar.us.

Sincerely,

CHARITABLE REPORT

Introduction

Each year, thousands of Arkansas residents are asked to donate money to help charitable organizations and various humanitarian projects. Donors deserve to know how their contributions will be spent by the charity to make certain that these gifts are used for their intended purpose. Many organizations describe the general purpose of their solicitation campaign, such as "for prevention of cancer," or "to build a children 's hospital." These statements lead donors to believe that all the money contributed will be used for that purpose. This report is intended to provide information to Arkansans so that they can become better informed contributors.

In 1999, the 82nd General Assembly of the State of Arkansas passed Act 1198 of 1999, codified at Arkansas Code Annotated § 4-28-401 et seq. Act 1198 provides that no charitable organization, not otherwise exempt, shall solicit contributions in this state unless it first registers with and provides certain information, including financial records of the solicitations, to the Attorney General. Organizations exempt from registration are educational institutions, religious organizations, political candidates and organizations, governmental organizations, nonprofit hospitals, any charitable organization that does not intend to solicit and receive contributions in excess of $25,000, and any person who solicits solely for the benefit of these organizations. There is no fee for registering a charitable organization in Arkansas. However, fees are collected from paid solicitors ($200), professional telemarketers ($10 per telemarketer), and fund-raising counsel ($100). Each of these fees, as well as the registrations for a charitable organization, is valid for one (1) year and must be renewed to continue solicitation activity in Arkansas.

This report contains the results of fund-raising campaigns conducted on behalf of charitable organizations during the years 1997 through 2000. It focuses on the overall performance records of paid solicitors by identifying those paid solicitors that gave large percentages of the gross amounts raised to the charity and those paid solicitors that retained the largest percentage of the monies raised. As of the date of this report, there are approximately 1,505 charities, 140 paid solicitors, 2,880 professional telemarketers, and 88 fund-raising counsel registered with the Office of the Attorney General.

The information following this introduction is broken into two parts: (a) Tips on Avoiding Charity Fraud and (b) Survey of 1997-2000 Fund-raising Campaigns. Information contained in the Survey of 1997-2000 Fundraising Campaigns is listed by charity and also by paid solicitor.

There may be a charity that you have contributed to that is not listed. This may be due to the fact that some organizations are exempt from registration under Arkansas law, as explained above. Another reason may be that the scope of this report is limited to those charities that use paid fundraisers. On the other hand, you may find that you are able to locate your charity, but in the accompanying columns the amount listed is "0." In these instances, the paid solicitor acting on behalf of the charity may have failed to provide the required financial information to this office, the charity, the paid solicitor, or both. The solicitor may have been directed by this office to cease and desist all solicitations in the state of Arkansas due to noncompliance with state law (denoted by "NC"). In other cases, the paid solicitor is inactive or no longer engaging in fund-raising activity in Arkansas (denoted by "law"), or the specified promotional campaign was canceled (denoted by "CP"). Please pay special attention to the footnotes provided in the survey of fund-raising campaigns.

If you have any questions or would like to make further inquiries regarding a specific charity, please make a written request or contact the Public Protection Department of the Attorney General's Office at (501) 682-2341 or (800) 482-8982. You may also contact the Department via E-mail at oag@ag.state.ar.us.

Tips on Avoiding Charity Fraud

Some charities find it more efficient to pay professional fund raisers to handle large-scale mailings, telephone drives, and other solicitations rather than their own paid staff or volunteers. Professional fund raisers are in business to make money and can legally keep a portion of the money they collect. If you're solicited for a donation, ask if the caller is a paid fund raiser and what percentage of your donation the fund raiser will keep. If you're not comfortable with the amount, you may decide to consider other options for donating.

Charity Checklist

Whether charitable organizations use their employees, volunteers, or professional fund raisers to solicit donations by phone, mail, or in person, consider the following precautions to ensure that your donation dollars benefit the people and organizations you want to help:

- Ask for written information, including the charity's name, address, and telephone number: A legitimate charity or fund raiser will give you written materials outlining the charity's mission, how your donation will be used, and proof that your contribution is tax-deductible.
- Ask for identification. Many states require paid fundraisers to identify themselves as such and to name the charity for which they're soliciting. If the solicitor refuses, hang up, and report the call to the Attorney General.
- Call the charity. Find out if the organization is aware of the solicitation and has authorized the use of its name. If not, you may be dealing with a fraudulent solicitor.
- Watch out for similar sounding names. Some phony charities use names that closely resemble those of respected, legitimate organizations.
- Know the difference between "tax-exempt" and "tax-deductible." Tax-exempt means the organization doesn't have to pay taxes. Tax-deductible means you can deduct your contribution from your federal income tax return. Even though an organization is tax-exempt, your contribution may not be tax-deductible. If deductibility is important to you, ask for a receipt showing the amount of your contribution and stating that it is tax-deductible.
- Beware of organizations that use meaningless terms to suggest they are tax-exempt charities. For example, the fact that an organization has a "tax I.D. number" doesn't mean it is a charity: All nonprofit and for-profit organizations must have tax I.D. numbers. And an invoice that tells you to "keep this receipt for your records" doesn't mean your donation is tax-deductible or that the organization is tax-exempt.
- Be skeptical if someone thanks you for a pledge you don't remember making. If you have any doubt whether you've made a pledge or previously contributed, check your records. Be on the alert for invoices claiming you've made a pledge when you know you haven't. Some unscrupulous solicitors use this approach to get your money.
- Ask how your donation will be distributed. Ask how much will go to the program you want to support, and how much will cover the charity's administrative costs. If a professional fund-raising organization is used, ask how much it will keep.

- Refuse high-pressure appeals. Legitimate fund raisers won't push you to donate on the spot.
- Be wary of charities offering to send a courier to collect your donation immediately.
- Consider the costs. When buying merchandise or tickets for special events, or when receiving free goods in exchange for giving, remember that these items cost money and generally are paid for out of your contribution. Although this can be an effective fund-raising tool, less money may be available for the charity.
- Be wary of guaranteed sweepstakes winnings in exchange for a contribution. You never have to donate anything to eligible to win.
- Avoid cash gifts that can be lost or stolen. For security and tax record purposes, it's best to pay by check. Use the official, full name of the charity -- not initials -- on your check. Avoid solicitors who want to send a courier or use an overnight delivery service to pick up your donation.

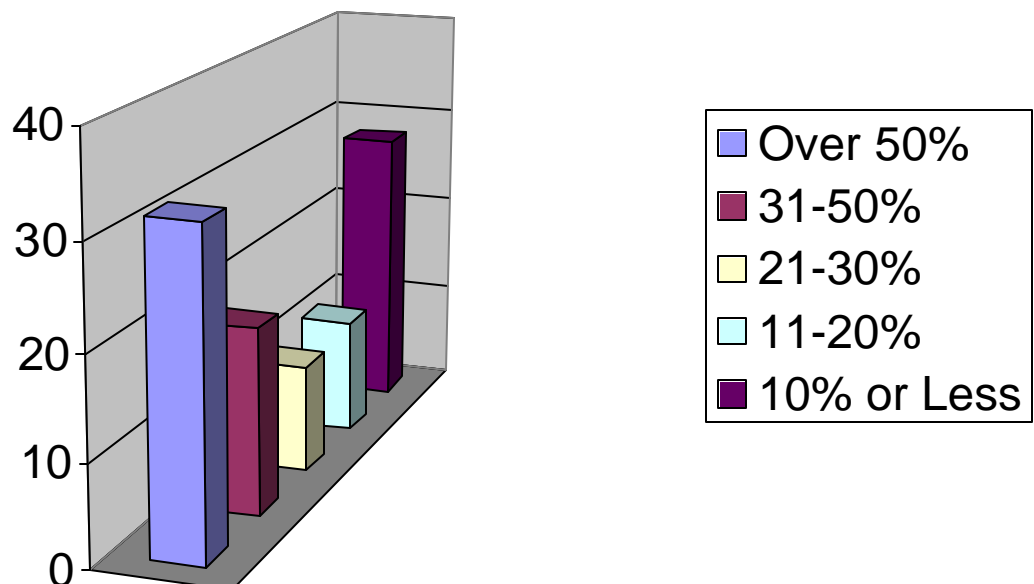

If you want to be truly safe, simply decline all telemarketed pitches for charitable donations. There are many worthy charities in your area, deserving of your consideration. Contact these charities directly and ask how you can help.

As shown in detail in this report, the survey of fund-raising campaigns from 1997-2000 yielded the following information.

Of the 996 campaigns reported:

31% of the charities received over 50% of the gross revenue collected,
 18% of the charities received between 31 and 50% of the gross revenue collected,
 11% of the charities received between 21 and 30% of the gross revenue collected,
 12% of the charities received between 11 and 20% of the gross revenue collected,
 28% of the charities received between 10 or less of the gross revenue collected.
